Larry Chottiner e-mailed to Maureen Patterson that granddaughter Emily is still battling cancer and is seeking to enter a St. Judes Hospital trial program.

Pete Stith reported Brock's Barbecue founder Charles Brock passed away on June 30. Mr. Brock was a former Virginia State Trooper, known throughout the county as quite a storyteller. Pete told of Trooper Brock telling about stopping a trucker for speeding and the driver saying he couldn't have been speeding since his truck would only do sixty mph. Trooper Brock told the driver that it was a good thing that he pulled the driver since that trailer right behind him was doing 75 mph. Pete was fined for his telling of the story.

Happy Dollars

Tom Yeager was happy that Maureen was president, since Pete Stith would charge him more; very happy for the nice newspaper article about his retirement; happy for the fifth day of his retirement.

Pete Stith was happy that he sponsored Will Shewmake and that Will had sponsored Maureen. Pete was also happy that he has obtained more cigars to add to the sale at the Food Festival. He also urged others to start selling their tickets right now or he was going to sell tickets to your customers. Pete reminded members that there are no complimentary cigars to members, no matter how many drinks they have.

Chandler Williams is happy to be heading to northern Virginia for his grandson's baseball playoffs, then on to Larchmont, NY to celebrate Robbie's birthday with friends, then back for a three day float trip with family on the James River.

Will Shewmake was happy for Chandler Williams making it to 70 years old.

Kyle Woolfolk was sad to have missed the banquet, but happy to have gone to Liverpool to play golf with seven friends. Despite their American flag waving, they lost a round to a group of locals.

Dave Saunders was happy that wife, Sue, celebrated her first Independence Day as an American citizen.

Richard McCullough is happy to celebrate his fifth year of retirement with completion of 620 rounds of golf, reading 900 books, and 4 grandkids.

Cabell Singleton was happy for his 26th anniversary and that he has finally broken ground on his new animal hospital building on Midlothian Turnpike.

Allen Worley was happy for the Rotary bookends, that his son is in town for a week and for his daughter's birthday.

Wayne Woodcock was happy that Michael and Marlene from Stonehenge did such a great job with the banquet.

Ernie Rogers was happy that his son bought him a Mercedes and that he attended a wedding at Historic Mankin Mansion. Ernie had sold Mankin Mansion to the current owner at an auction and was glad to see the improvements to the facility.

Program -

Dave Saunders introduced our speaker, Daphne Swanson, President of Junior Achievement of Central Virginia.

Ms. Swanson told us that Richmond Junior Achievement began fifty years ago as an after school program for high school students with the goals of teaching financial literacy, work readiness, and entrepreneurship.

They now operate K-12 programs that include job shadowing, the JA Company program, Finance park, and JA In A Day. They have a financial literacy program for tenth graders in all of the regional school systems that cover such financial needs as loan applications, down payments, day care costs, the average cost of a new car, eating out costs, as well as costs for clothing, pets, and unexpected "that's life" costs. Ms. Swanson told us of volunteer opportunities for our members as well as their capital campaign for their new "Finance Park" at the Libbie Mill library in Henrico County. She also urged us to consider support of JA with our Rotary Grant requests.
