Happy Dollars

Pete Stith had some sad dollars for the loss of Jack Gravely. Mr. Gravely was a longtime Director of the Richmond NAACP as well as a local radio personality.

David Saunders was happy to have his family home from vacation in the Isle of Mann.

Ernie Rogers was happy that his son, Jansen had just purchased another classic car. This one is a 1955 Chrysler Windsor.

Program - Kathryn Street - Extra Special Parents of Virginia

Kathryn Street talked to us about Extra Special Parents of Virginia. This organization is a commercial support charity for the Virginia Department of Social Services that takes overflow cases for foster parenting. She said that there are 5,992 foster care children in place in Virginia and that most children enter foster care as a result of neglect rather than behavioral or mental health issues.

This organization assists with vetting perspective foster parents, accepts emergency cases, and manages approximately 47 children in 34 families with 3 locations. They are funded by local governments.

Their needs include: Donations of toys, books, duffle bags, backpacks, money. Their parents are both weekend support and permanent support.
